Dear Business Leader:

Now more than ever our community depends upon the power of the business sector for its economic strength and social vitality. The Gloucester County business community is the backbone of our regional economy.

As part of our economic development plan, we are in the process of publishing an Economic Resource Guide that will present your business or organization the unique opportunity to promote your message to businesses and investors beyond our area that may be interested in the products and services that you market.

The Guide, an attractive, four-color, magazine style format, will highlight many of the important features of our area and will be used in Gloucester County business attraction packages over the next three (3) years. Professionally produced, it will help us make that all-important "good first impression" and help us attract more business and jobs to the region.

Because you are such a vital member to our business community contributing to Gloucester County's high quality of life and providing jobs to Gloucester County residents, we felt that your company should be included in the Guide. Advertising will cover all of the production costs. We hope that you will lend your advertising support to this important undertaking, which will help our community grow and prosper for many years to come.

Best regards,

Tom Bianco
